Long Race, Small Margin
The Ocean Is Too Big
Geneva's Comic Opera
England Forgot the Airplane

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

The contest between modern ships for the "Atlantic blue ribbon" or ocean championship, held at this moment by the British Queen Mary, suggests most amazing proof of modern engineering efficiency. Consider that the race across these thousand miles of water, the Queen Mary after being beaten several times by the French liner Normandie, beat the latter and took the Atlantic blue ribbon by a margin of less than half a mile, across 3000 miles of ocean.

Americans, particularly Grand Europe, find of the United States General Electric Company, and its subsidiaries, the Normandie's achievement, however, the latter's thousand horse power less than that of the Queen Mary.

You would have heard the Normandie's proprietors, with which she is due to take back to the blue ribbon and the propellers hooked to the electric power by American machinery made by the General Electric affiliate in France. The United States may not know how to build much of a navy, but American engineers can "aid other countries how to do it."

It was said in the last issue to see the big British liner, Berengaria, queen of the Atlantic only ten or four years ago, overhauled and left behind by the Normandie as easily as a trotting horse would pass an ox team. This old queen sees herself passed by youth, and youth in turn grows old and falls behind. However, the surface speed of ships will soon be as unimportant to transportation as the speed of any human short-cut race.

All long distance travel, including ocean travel, will be air travel and faster than it ever has been on water: plenty of room, and no iceberg up there. Only a few crossings since, Commander Pierre Thoreux, of the Normandie, stood twenty hours on the bridge without going below. No wonder captains of great passenger ships retire, compulsively, at fifty-five, and wonder the preceding commander of the Normandie, Fernand Pignatelli, making a quiet life with sea responsibility, went back to the flying that had occupied him in the big war. Commander Thoreux will probably do the same when he reaches fifty-five.

The other day you cross the ocean and you realize that the ocean is a great deal too big for our small planet. It is one ocean, Atlantic, Pacific, Arctic, Antarctic, all touching water covering three quarters of the earth's surface.

Consider the Pacific. Take the world map, whatever projection, fold it over from Asia toward New York, and beyond. It will cover the United States, the Atlantic ocean and all Europe to the English Channel.

A waste of the earth's surface, but probably only temporary, like the enormous liver is a young baby. Nature stores up iron in that liver to supply the baby during the nursing period, and it shrinks in proportion to size as the baby grows. Our preposterous ocean, doubtless, will shrink as men retain its waters to irrigate deserts and drought lands, instead of letting it run back to the ocean, taking fertile soil with it, after it has fallen in rain.

Where men now travel the seas they will walk about, through fertile land, build houses, in pleasant valleys and on small mountain tops. The ocean will be their "proud waste play" in compartments set apart, perhaps in accordance with the Italian astronomer's idea of Mars, in great circles running east, west, north, south around the globe, supplying cheap transportation for heavy freight, and endless hydroplane landing fields.

If this seems too far a task, remember that this century, with the sun's best providing comfortable living conditions, will have had hundreds of millions of years longer. Science proves it to all but the ignorant.

"Civilized man" is still a barbarian, only twelve thousand years, a few generations, from the late stone age.

Everything that intelligence can imagine, it will do, in the millions of centuries ahead. Sun and the tide, however, cannot make power as cheap and plentiful as air and water are now.

The League of Nations, representing the coming of the modern history, seems anxious to have Ethiopia, its trade and system of navigation, and torture retained in a gathering of civilized countries. This position represents Britain's anxiety at finding her old handiwork, the League of Nations, in the hands of the League of Nations.

Blum's Franc Plan Meets First Snag In Paris Senate

Washington—Federal Reserve System of six nations.

London—Change returns trading in devalued currencies.

Paris, Sept. 29—Approved by the Chamber of Deputies in a 24-hour session, Premier Leon Blum's plan to devalue the franc and after it with the British pound and the American dollar hit its first Senate snag late today.

Radical senators, generally in opposition to the government's devaluation test. They said the plan would draw up a new tax upon the franc which gives the pound a 10% head to fight the franc.

The radical senators explained that they were opposed to devaluation, not opposed to the plan to give the government devaluation power to fight a rising cost of living.

11 Found Guilty Of Black Legion 'Execution'

Detroit, Sept. 29 (AP)—Eleven of the 12 men charged with plotting the Black Legion "execution" of Charles A. Pyle on an isolated suburban road just May 12 were convicted today.

All but four were convicted of first degree murder. The jury of nine men and three women held two of the others guilty of second degree murder and Judge Joseph A. Moynihan returned a second degree murder conviction against two defendants who waived a jury trial. Acquittal of Herschel Gill, the only defendant freed of the charges, had been suggested by Assistant State Attorney Chester P. O'Hara.

Five of those convicted of first degree murder—"Colonel" Harvey Davis, Edwin D. Lee, Urban Lipps, Paul R. Edwards and Edgar Smith—were present when Pyle was shot to death by Dayton Dean, the confessed "executioner."

Two others convicted of first degree murder were John Banner, who was charged with taking an active part in the plot, and Thomas E. Craig, Virgil Morgan, Albert Stevens and John S. Vincent were convicted in the second degree. The penalty for first degree murder is life imprisonment. Second degree conviction leaves the sentence to the discretion of the court.

Talavera De La Reina, Spain, Sept. 29—Gaunt prisoners of the Alcazar cannon out of Toledo today to tell epic stories of wholesale death and "prophetic" birth.

They said virtually all the priests in the city—numbering 600—were slain in a reign of Lefist terror that preceded the fall of Toledo to the insurgent armies.

They told how, within the Alcazar's ruin, the birth of two babies was regarded as an omen of the captives' deliverance.

Starved, strangely wasted, emaciated, they related how they lived on black bread, on horse meat, on hope.

The fascist survivors confirmed official insurgent figures which stated only about 80 of their number were slain and 500 wounded. These figures placed the total in the Alcazar at 1200, although previous reports have made it 1700.

Spain today, some unofficial estimates said 50 per cent of the total.

GIRL STUDENT FOUND DEAD IN POOL

Northfield, Sept. 29—Drowning of Miss Mary E. Barnard, 17-year-old senior at Northfield Seminary, was revealed today by school authorities.

The body of the girl, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Barnard of Ettafield, was found in the seminary swimming pool at the supper hour last night, after she had been missed from her room.

A perplexing angle of the case, however, was that Miss Barnard, an hour earlier, had finished her swimming lesson with the class at the pool, and had returned to her room.

It is thought that she returned to the pool to obtain some practice before supper.

When the disappearance of the girl was reported to Miss Grace Fells, physical education director, a search of the premises was instituted. Miss Fells herself discovered the body in the pool.

Medical examination and members of the girls' organizations and members of the faculty, learning that Mary was a swimmer, pronounced the drowning accident.

The death of the girl, who had been at the seminary since 1934, cast a gloom over the school. She was a well-known student, a member of the girls' organizations and a member of the faculty. Her death was a shock to the school, although not at home, she was pronounced the drowning accident.

Holy Land Under Martial Law

London, Sept. 29 (AP)—Great Britain today clamped down martial law on Palestine to end the terrorism which Arabs have waged against the Holy Land for months against Jewish immigration.

Military rule actually will be imposed by the Palestine High Commissioner, who was named as such officially in the London Gazette.

The commissioner's proclamation will designate virtual dictatorial power to Lord, Gen. J. G. Dill, commander of the recently augmented military force in Palestine.

PEEL A BACKS ROOSEVELT'S FARM STAND

Special to American Newspapers, Inc.
Washington, Sept. 20—George N. Peel, former head of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and export-import bank chief for the Roosevelt New Deal, last night delivered his support of Governor Landon for President.

Assailing President Roosevelt for his broken pledges and his destruction of farm income, Peel, a life-time farmer, said:

"The Republican party and its candidate have not squarely the issue, picking up the promises discarded by Roosevelt and plugging themselves in their honest fulfillment."

MARKET HAZARDS
Commented by William Hard, noted political commentator, Peel made his announcement in a radio broadcast, extensive radio audience with the Landon policies, Peel said.

"Most of the farmers' problems fall in two general classes—the hazards of nature and the hazards of markets. I shall not say my remarks tonight are the hazards of markets. Covering them the Republican party of 1938 promises three things of paramount importance to agriculture—

"1—The American market for the American farmer.
"2—Government assistance in disposing of surpluses in foreign trade through selective buying.
"3—Government assistance in disposing of surpluses in foreign trade through selective buying."

AGAINST AGRICULTURE
In every instance the departments of state and agriculture have ruled against the interests of the American farmer.
As to tariff barriers on export crops, the administration has not given them to the farmers. Instead, farmers were given government checks for reducing acreage, which in turn has reduced the price of the crops. The government's policy is to reduce the price of the crops. The government's policy is to reduce the price of the crops.

ALIGNED WITH FARMER
Governor Landon and the Republican party have aligned themselves squarely with the farmers for the fundamental principles involved in the fight for the farmer's rights for agriculture. I am a farmer and I am proud of my farm. I am a farmer and I am proud of my farm. I am a farmer and I am proud of my farm.

"Many of us old associates in the long farm fight, who turned to Roosevelt in 1932, are disappointed. Many of us old associates in the long farm fight, who turned to Roosevelt in 1932, are disappointed. Many of us old associates in the long farm fight, who turned to Roosevelt in 1932, are disappointed.

CHARGE GUILD STOLE NEWS
Seattle, Wash., Sept. 20—That by the American Newspaper Guild, a series of confidential messages between bureau heads of Universal Service, worldwide news service, was charged to sensational headlines last before the National Labor Relations Board in the strike-ridden Seattle Post-Intelligencer hearing here.

The charges were made by Edward G. Woods, general counsel for Hearst newspapers, in calling into question the motives of the Guild in its use of articles.
But Woods attempted in vain to introduce into evidence copies of the Guild Daily for last Saturday which published the alleged stolen messages in a purported news story under the New York Daily News credit in a so-called Guild News service.

In line with repeated rumors which Woods has met in attempting to show the real purposes and motives of the Guild in its strike and boycott campaign against the Post-Intelligencer, Times Examiner Edwin S. Smith flatly rejected the offer of proof which Woods made.

Smith likewise rejected Woods' offer in evidence of another copy of the Guild Daily, the publication of two dozen editorial workers who are on strike against the Post-Intelligencer, carrying an advertisement of the formation of the Associated Guild wire service.

Elopers Win Out Despite Football

HERBERT AUSTIN EVELYN KIEVER
Grid Game Slows Up Elopement

Dartmouth's bone-crushing footballer, however unwittingly, came dangerously close to putting Bill Daniel Cupid, love's unerring arrow, "hors de combat" with the Norwich players last Saturday.

Cupid's unusual plight was his second today when Miss Evelyn Kiever, 19, daughter of Archbishop L. Kiever, wealthy shoe manufacturer of Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, and Herbert Austin, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Austin, of Chicopee and Brighton, made known their intention to elope.

"If we hadn't already lost our hearts to each other, they would certainly still be in our minds, as were that water," said the youthful bridegroom, who is a great manager in his father's factory, in describing the circumstances attending the elopement ceremony.

"Our love was truly in the heart when we were told we would need a Friday water and that the judge who could supply the necessary water had returned from the Dartmouth football game in Hanover.

A diligent search to the position of the water, however, turned up an acting judge, who granted the water and the ceremony went off without a hitch.

Admitting that their parents were shocked at news of their marriage, the happy newweds claimed they had full parental blessing and that a church wedding was planned for today.

The couple have in immediate plans but they will fly to Colorado at the end of the week to spend a honeymoon at a resort in the mountains.

Miss Kiever, who is a junior at Dartmouth College, has been granted the necessary time off from her studies.

"He's going to allow me to finish my studies. Don't you think he's grand?" she said. "He's just grand."

Of the hundreds of entries received from all over New England today, the 100 daily award for the best lyrics set to the rhythmic air of "Oh! Hussam" goes to those submitted by David R. McIntosh, of 209 Whitwell street, Quincy.

His entry will now be entered in the national contest for the grand prize of $1000, on a second of $200. There are 25 awards of $20 each.

A $1000 is a lot of money—so get your entry in to the London Campaign Song Contest today, 5 Winthrop square, Boston, at once.

LONDON CAMPAIGN SONG
The state of Maine has led the way. It's join the big parade. With Landon as our President, hard times will quickly fade. Our unemployed will work again, and work for decent pay. We'll win a smashing victory, and an election day.

(Refrain)
His wretched New Deal spending didn't get him very far.

"Happy days are here again" is the New Deal's famous song. They must be in a "daze" when everything they do is wrong. Franklin knows he's badly licked, he's hot around the collar. He'll be better still when all the people start to holler.

New Deal campaign promises are just a lot of "honey". They'd like us to believe them, but all we say is "phony". The people of America are wise to them at last.

They'll show it in November when for all their votes are cast.

(Refrain)
He's honest citizen will climb on Landon's wagon. He'll make our country prosper, and do it without bragging. He's sure to win and just because he has the kind of stuff. To make the New Deal show its hand and right there call its bluff.

SHIP OWNERS PLAMED FOR RADICALISM

Blame for the existence of radicalism in the American Merchant Marine was placed upon the operators of the ships, today in a speech read by Ivan Hunter, secretary-treasurer of the International Seamen's Union, before the Proprietary Club.

The speech of Mr. Hunter, who was called to Washington to confer with the administration relative to the Longshoremen's strike on the West Coast, was read by Arthur J. Barnes, member International Seamen's Union.

CREWS QUARTERS DISGRACE
"I call your attention to the crew's quarters on the average American ship. They are a disgrace.

"I want to tell you that if the seamen of America continue to be deprived of a decent and respectable life and hope of future, then the American Merchant Marine will also be deprived of life, hope and of a future.

"Many seamen live in dirty quarters, no air, no fresh water, no light, no more than crowded into a space too small for 30 men to live.

OPEN DOOR TO REDS
"When you ship owners permit this, you open the door for criticism and radicalism.

"However, the agitators and the efforts of the radicals now being carried on emanate from a small group.

"These agitators seldom go to sea, and will continue their dirty work just as long as you gentlemen continue to tolerate it."

Other speakers on the morning program included Eugene P. Thomas, president of the National Proprietary Council; J. Thompson Moore, president of the Atlantic Deep-sea Fisheries Association; and Arthur M. Todd, honorary president of the Proprietary Club of the United States.

Find Medford Man Monoxide Victim
Missing since yesterday morning, David J. Brittain, 46, of Clark street, Medford, was found dead from carbon monoxide gas today. His body was found in his car in a Lincoln field.

POLICE CHIEFS GATHER 13 Speakers at Banquet Tonight

Acres of broad, thick soles trod the parquet floors of the New Orleans hotel Stranahan today as members of the Massachusetts Police Chiefs Association gathered for the 36th annual convention, lasting today and tomorrow.

Today's business session and nomination of an unopposed state officer was held, and tonight comes the big banquet, with more talk to be fired at the police chiefs than they ever heard in a third degree.

No less than 13 speakers are on the card for tonight, and if the sturdy police chiefs survive the barrage of oratory they will meet again tomorrow and vote solemnly for the officers nominated today.

Speakers scheduled for tonight include Governor Curley, Lieutenant-Governor Joseph L. Hurley, Attorney-General Paul A. Dever, State Treasurer Charles F. Hurley, President James C. Moran of the Senate, Speaker Leverett Saltonstall of the House, Melvin B. Breath of the Metropolitan District Commission, Edward J. Kelly of the Metropolitan Water Supply Commission.

Also, Thomas H. Green, Civil Service Commission chairman; Mayor John D. Lyman, of Cambridge; Mayor Frank E. Lewis of Everett; Police Commissioner Thomas F. Galvin of Lawrence; and Thomas McMurray of Worcester, past president of the association and the only living charter member.

Officers nominated today are to be elected tomorrow are: Inspector James J. Pres of Lynn.

Suggestions FOR Noon LUNCHEONS

By MARTHA LEE

September noons are still pretty warm for hot lunches, but it's important that those noon meals be filling.

Vacations are over, husbands are back to regular office schedules, children are back in school and meals must be regular and satisfying.

One of the most appetizing combinations for noon lunch is a filling whole meat salad, a hot or cold bread, tea or coffee for adults, and milk or hot cocoa for the children. A hot vegetable may be included, if desired. These salads vary in preparation and are served in a large bowl or the generous portions may be served on cold meat, chicken or eggs form the protein foundation of these salads. Potato, peas, tomato, carrots or macaroni the starch requirements, and any crisp vegetable or fruit like apples.

Always remember to put the foods in fairly large pieces, about the size of a small slice, not just enough to nibble and with just enough dressing to moisten the salad. A mellow salad, overtopped with dressing will never be accepted by your family.

- 1-Baked beans (drained), celery, sausage or frankfurters, and sweet pickles. Mayonnaise.
- 2-Baked macaroni, cubed ham or corned beef, celery and stuffed olives and mayonnaise.
- 3-Tuna, chicken, cucumber, celery, and mayonnaise.
- 4-Potato, hard-boiled egg, cubed salmon, radishes, mayonnaise, tomato garnish.
- 5-Hard-boiled eggs, kidney beans, celery and pickled onions or sweet pickles.
- 6-Cubed ham, celery and pine apple with mayonnaise.
- 7-Cubed cooked veal with orange sections, toasted almonds and celery.

Congress Finds Unusual Detail in Fur Coat and Suit

WHEN YOU find that the devastatingly slim back of the ombre ripple grey caracul coat (left) is managed through two diagonal tucks, you realize how the fur stylist's art has advanced!

The coat is a Fashion Congress selection modeled by Miss Blanche O'Riordan. Again you see the restraint that makes these new coats so notable—the flare that's just wide enough, the definite but unexaggerated sleeve, and the collar which may be worn up or down. Because the caracul is stiffer and softer than many a winter coat fabric, the belted line is divinely becoming.

Right, Miss Lee Stevenson modeled the Fashion Congress selection which features Vivienne's multi-colored black coat. It acts as a pepkin when you're not using it as a muff. Pretty obvious that this is one muff you won't lose. There's character in the rough weave of the black wool fabric. And don't overlook—as if you could—the new sleeve. It's gathered tightly at the wrist and then edged with a ruffle of silk. The black velvet belt is a huge oval disc with a bow of silk ribbon.

For shopping information on either the caracul coat or the suit, phone Anne Brink, Fashion Editor, Liberty 4000, or write her at the Boston Evening American.

Your Figure, Madame!

By IMA JEAN RAIN

IF YOU ARE fat where you should be slim, and thin where you need it specific exercise, to normalize a figure in which weight is not a problem.

Dr. Howard Crum, writing in his book, "The Truth About Beauty," says that in most instances a figure program is a matter of reconstruction as well as weight change, and that exercise is half the process.

If you are in this class, then you must determine which of your proportions is responsible for the lack of symmetry, and select to work on the underlying muscles. Your proportions should be as follows: bust, two inches larger than the chest waist at least six inches less than the bust; an eighteen difference in height, and hips should not exceed the bust by more than two inches. There may be other measurements, upper arms or the calves of your legs—which are only out of proportion, but the bust, hips and waistline come first in the reconstruction of your figure.

Without diet, exercise is a slow process. It may take months to reduce the firm flesh and tone, but the results to health and figure are worth all the time and effort you are willing to give. Weight loss by diet does not always show an improvement in the figure, but inches lost by muscle make improvement, a certainty.

The best measurement is the slowest to show a change. There are two areas of exercise, reduction and developing, which are identical in their aim to strengthen and lift the portions which, when performing their proper function, give the bust its shape. They may be performed in any order, but the best is a steady use of these muscles.

Of all the measurements, that of the waist is the most plastic. Your waistline can show remarkable improvement in one month's time. It is intended by nature

"Air Mission" Plan For Far North

By LEWIS ALLEN BROWN

New York, Sept. 29 (AP)—The Rev. Father Paul Schulte, O.M.I., "The Flying Priest," announced today that missionary air communications would be established this winter between desolate stretches of the northwest territory and civilization.

The priest, who has "moralized" missionary work on every continent, reported that regular missionary flights to Fairbanks, Alaska, at the mouth of the Mackenzie river, would be feasible.

And she batted her eyelashes in return. Lieutenant Castello reported the blonde, Charlotte Earl, because, he said, the eyelashes—false ones—were the principal item in her costume.

She said she had been in the "Air Mission" Plan for Far North.

"Do you recall our talk about the beautiful view across the Bay of Naples—after your father died?"

"Yes—I said I never wanted to think about it again, because it all seemed so different after Oliver went. I was by the window, staring down on the bay, when he passed."

"Like You"

"And I took you to task, Linda. I said it was no good that way. I said that when I thought of something hurt you, the best thing was to think about it—to take it out of your mind, so it wouldn't hurt you."

"Yes, I said that. I said that when I thought of something hurt you, the best thing was to think about it—to take it out of your mind, so it wouldn't hurt you."

I HAVE TO WORK TONIGHT AND MY PAINS HAVE BEEN ON SO HARD THAT MY EYES ARE CROSSED. WHAT A BREAK!

WHAT A BREAK! YOU MEAN HERE, TAKE SOME WATER, AND FORGET THE TIME OF MONTH.

THAT WAS A LOT OF WORK, BUT YOU DIDN'T SEEM TO MIND IT, THANKS.

THERE IT IS—MIDOL RELIEVES "REGULAR" PAIN! IT SURE DOES ME TO GET A BOX RIGHT NOW.

YOU'RE QUITE WELCOME! MC MIDOL IT WAS NO EFFORT, COCONUT.

MODERN women no longer give in to periodic pain. It's old-fashioned to suffer in silence, because there now a reliable remedy for such suffering.

Some women who have always had the hardest time relieve by Midol. Some who've not felt one twinge of pain, or even a moment's discomfort during the entire period.

Don't let the calendar regulate your activities! Don't "save your self" or "save yourself" certain days of every month! Keep going, and keep comfortable—with the aid of Midol. These tablets provide a proven means for the relief of such pain, as you endure suffering Midol might spare you.

Midol is a narcotic. It's not. And its relief is prolonged; two tablets see you through your worst day.

You can get Midol in a trim little aluminum case at any drug store, where you may enjoy a new freedom!

FLOYD GIBBONS' PAGE OF THRILLS AND MYSTERY

Ninety-Seven Killed!

The Tale of Washington's Mid-Winter Theater Tragedy

By FLOYD GIBBONS

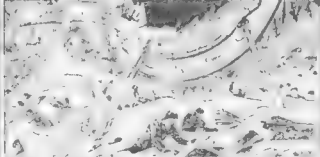

FLOYD GIBBONS There were few cars on the streets and those were having a hard time of it.

A clear has a cinch in weather like that. No one wants to go out in those feet of snow. Rich on the city streets, a long line of cars and cars, but the snow is so deep that they are stuck in the snow. The snow is so deep that they are stuck in the snow.

THEY ARE STUCK IN THE SNOW.

THEY ARE STUCK IN THE SNOW.

THEY ARE STUCK IN THE SNOW.

THEY ARE STUCK IN THE SNOW.

Floyd Gibbons will pay good money for good TRUE adventure stories. Hundreds of people in Boston and nearby towns have received ten-dollar and hundred-dollar bills for their yarns, and there's no reason why you can't do the same, for, as Floyd says, everybody has had at least one adventure. James J. Barry, the first of the "Cops," was one hundred and ten dollars for the story of his life's biggest moment, and you can do the same. For further details, see the box at the right side of the page.

HOW TO WIN
And Membership in The Floyd Gibbons Adventure Club

It's the easiest money you ever earned. Here's the only rule: YOUR STORY MUST BE TRUE. Everyone is duplicitous and you don't have to be a writer to compete, because Floyd will collaborate with you and it's out on rough paper. Just write down the TRUE story of your biggest thrill and mail it to Floyd, care of the Boston Evening Herald, 7 Washington Square, Boston. Write your name and address plainly and keep a copy of your letter, as NO STORY CAN BE RETURNED. Do not send valuable pictures or souvenirs. Just send the FACTS!

THE HENNINGSON SOARED SO CLOSE to the ring that the spectators at Boston didn't get the blame for the crash. It was a case of a man who was flying too close to the sun. The plane was a biplane, and it was flying over the city. The crash was a disaster, and it was a tragedy. The plane was flying over the city, and it was a disaster. The plane was flying over the city, and it was a tragedy.

'First Lady' Adds to Screen Honors

Kay Francis adds another trump to her lengthy list of successes in "Give Me Your Heart," which is the current screen attraction on Metropolitan's program.

Gladys Swarthout Heads Cast

Los Angeles, Sept. 29.—The best seller of over twenty years ago was "To Have and To Hold," a colorful novel dealing with the early colonies. At the time Mary Johnson wrote this book it swept the country as "Gone With the Wind" has today. Everybody was reading it. Naturally the movies captured the rights and it was used to co-star Betty Compson and Bert Lyell.

American Legion Names a Good Leader

THE AMERICAN LEGION not only dedicated itself anew to a sound program of Americanism at its Cleveland convention.

It has entrusted that program to a leader devoted to the Legion's tradition of loyalty and to American principles of government.

"Our job is primarily an American job. We are satisfied with America. Those who founded it had an ideal, and we think that ideal is still good."

This statement gives promise that the Legion's PROGRAM FOR AMERICA is in good hands.

That program is clear cut.

It asks repair of the injury done the national interest by the ill-advised recognition of Red Russia.

Commander Colmery made these objectives HIS OWN when he said:

"The first duty of the government is to maintain itself in sufficient strength to protect the individual rights guaranteed its citizens by the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence."

At a time when government has strayed so far from this duty that it THREATENS rather than protects the rights of its citizens, the nation has great need for such a program and such a leader.

Farley Sees a Ghost

"To an alien and defeatist philosophy now seeking foothold on our soil."

There would be little nourishment in the diet, but Mr. Farley would probably welcome the opportunity to eat the words that so carelessly slipped off his tongue early in the campaign.

When Mr. Farley contemptuously referred to "the typical prairie states" of the vast agricultural region, he little realized the fateful significance of his insulting blunder.

That belittling phrase will haunt Jim Farley until the dawn of election day.

"Oh, Susanna!" Contest

NEW lustre has been added continuously since his death to the name of Stephen Collins Foster, American troubadour.

His genius was typical of the free land that produced him, and it grows in stature with the years.

The national competition being conducted by the Hearst newspapers for a Landon Campaign Song has designated "Oh, Susanna!" as the air for the words being sought.

There is an association of thought in the selection of this melody.

A Wreath for Her Boy

The picture, taken in Washington at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, shows Mrs. Mathilda Burling, Gold Star Mothers' national president, honoring the memory of her own boy who died in France and other mothers' boys who also died.

Mrs. Burling, sadly, looks back on the day her son kissed her goodbye, marched bravely forth to the big war, never to return. And, remembering, she asks God that the song of today in never called to die in war.

Pictures like this should be shown in every corner of Europe and Asia, where rulers and dictators feverishly prepare for the next war.

But, of course, these pictures will not be shown. Dictators would not let them. That's one reason why war seems certain,

Birds of a Feather Flock Together

Somewhat embarrassed is the bird
Perched on that hollow tree
To find its self-selected roost
Attracts such company!

And even if they've not been asked,
It really matters not
To that wild flock when they have found
A comfortable spot.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

New York, Sept. 29.—There was a vivid recollection of real life triumph and tragedy of the stage when they buried the playboy and the cherubine. The famous Claude Rains, who had come to town to play the part of the chief villain in the play "The Sign of the Cross," died of a heart attack while in the city.

Newspaper fellows show a belated knowledge of English, naturally. But I don't know that they ought to upbraid others for being less proficient. To many educated people, acquaintance inside and out, and in matters other than English, such persons may express intellectual virtues in which newspapers are sadly lacking.

The other day a great agent on the air said "POKAL for KINCEL." A fellow in our burg rescued himself from a dame with a young lady one night, saying his collar was "irrigating" his neck. Invariably he said "come!" for "come." He became a state's attorney.

A Malapropism attitude may merely mean the offender does not think it worth while to dig out the exactness.

Few actors can fool around with indifference to audience. Noel Coward accomplishes it to a degree. He is a little more of an irritating unbalance. The Rhythmic-Rhyme and John-Gardner, a buffoon. But Lionel, more unending, has endured. He is a little more of a popular of the Royal Family.

In harping on abuses of the parole system, Director J. Edgar Hoover of Uncle Sam's G-men is performing a valuable and important public service. He is exposing the parole system.

He knows, through bitter experience, that the parole system operator in many states is a promoter of crime, rather than a reformer.

"Every one of the men in our country is a victim of a criminal who has enjoyed other people's freedom or freedom," he says.

Director Hoover charged that "the parole system, as operated,"

Along the Wine Trail

The Human Side of the News

By Edwin C. Hill

THE GLOBE TROTTER OF HEARST METROPHONE NEWS

Peace and contentment at the end of the day? What pleasure way to feel the threat of these gradually increasing autumn evenings than to sit in a chair, with a good book, and a glass of wine, and think of the wine trail.

Edwin C. Hill, Perignon, cell.

He was in the Abbey of Hautvillers, near Rheims, first tried out the virtues of the sparkling wine he had discovered by accident. It was then, I truly believe, he coxswain.

Edwin C. Hill, Perignon, cell.

He had made his mission national and even international, by the New York Times with office in Paris, Berlin, Vienna, London, and elsewhere.

Then came that blow to personal liberty known as Prohibition, and he was introduced to the vine of highballs, bathings in the sea, and the wine of the experience with one determined to make the world a better place.

Lloyd George, England's wartime prime minister, has stirred up a regular hornet's nest with the latest volume of his memoirs.

His criticism of "American imperialism" has aroused a storm of indignation.
